

Where do I belong in mission?

Good news – everyone who has started in missions has asked this question! We asked 5 missionaries what they thought about this – what they did, or what they think they could have done better, and made a 2 minute video of their response (link below). I hope it helps you (along with the other sections of this site) as you find out where you're at in your pathway to mission.

Want to talk more? We've got even more stories of people who had to work out where they belonged, and we'd love to pray with you as you consider what it means for you.
